Kimberly Claire Whipple, 28, and Jesse Cecil Jones, 35, both California residents, kidnapped and held a man at gunpoint, then got into an SUV and drove into oncoming traffic on a highway in Lake Elsinore, California on 17 August. Shortly after the crash, police found the bodies of Whipple and Jones behind the vehicle's cracked windshield. They were named in reports as the prime suspects in the disappearance and shooting death of Phillip Anderson, but they had never been charged. And now, after eight months on the run, Jones and Whipple have been taken into custody. "Finally, justice has been served and the criminal masterminds that made the decision to drive their car into oncoming traffic, never to be seen again, are in jail," Elsinore Police Department spokesman Mike Myers told the Press Enterprise. "In the eyes of the Elsinore Police Department, no one is ever going to forget the 16-hour ordeal that Anderson endured at the hands of these offenders, and the fact they fled the scene in such a cowardly and thoughtless manner only makes it more painful to bear," he added. "It's beyond heinous." According to court documents, Whipple was in jail at the time of the incident because she had failed to pay child support. Whipple was arrested for grand theft by an ex-lover, and spent time in prison for stealing his credit cards. Jones has been arrested and convicted numerous times for crimes ranging from failing to register as a sex offender, to possession of methamphetamine. He spent some time in prison for forgery and was a registered sex offender, meaning he was barred from having contact with anyone under age 18. Police said 1cdb36666d
